Quality Issues
Ginkgold contains the only ginkgo biloba extract proven through comparative research to stimulate activity in all areas of the brain. Other brands claiming to be similar to Ginkgold stimulated only limited portions of the brain. Ginkgold has been exclusively shown to promote potent alpha-enhancing effects that can be classified as a cognitive activator. Backed by over 30 years of extensive research, including more than 400 published scientific and clinical studies, Ginkgold is the most effective ginkgo product on the market today. In fact, Ginkgold was the extract used in the breakthrough study published in the Journal of the American Medical Association.
