Natural Factors natural tomato Lycopene softgels contain 10mg of the important carotenoid, Lycopene. Derived from tomato, Lycopene is responsible for the healthy red color and is a more powerful free radical quencher than Beta Carotene. As a potent antioxidant, Lycopene prevents damage to cellular structures throughout the human body. Recent scientific research suggests that Lycopene may be an important tool for men who want to protect prostate health and for those who wish to guard against UV.

Suggested Usage:
1-2 softgel per day with meals, or as directed by a health professional. Keep out of reach of children.

Contains no artificial preservatives or color or corn, dairy, soy, gluten, starch, or yeast.
