Licorice Root 1:3

Licorice is best known as a tonic for the adrenal gland, useful for those with fatigue or under stress.

Who can benefit from this supplement?

Those suffering from adrenal fatigue, stress, inflammatory conditions, gastric ulcers and lung congestion. Licorice helps a stressed adrenal gland maintain its' production of adrenaline, cortisone and aldosterone, the hormones normally secreted by the adrenal gland. Aldosterone affects the body's ability to hold more water, and maintains normal hydration. Licorice also increases cortisol levels, thus helping to reduce inflammation. This can be helpful in conditions as varied as asthma, psoriasis, hepatitis, lupus, MS, arthritis, eczeme and other auto immune disorders. Licorice is also thought to have a synergistic action in herbal mixtures, and is commonly used, in small quantities, in herbal blends, especially in traditional Chinese medicine. Phyto-Tech Licorice Root 1:3 contains 333 mg/ml (30 drops) of certified organic licorice root, along with pure grain alcohol and deionized water. Dosage is 20-40 drops, 2-3 times per day or as neededl, in juice or water. Cautions: Do not use during pregnancy or nursing; long term use might possible cause water retention and/or edema; theorectically, could increase blood pressure at higher doeses and over long term use.
