EstroSoy Plus

Description

EstroSoy Plus is a phytoestrogen dietary supplement made from whole soybeans fermented with a natural, proprietary process. Fermentation yields more isoflavones and a diversity of supportive nutrients including beta glucan and glutathione. EstroSoy Plus delivers soy isoflavones (60% genistein/40% diadzein) in their "free", uncojugated form for better absorption and more effective use within the body. Only 100% certified, organically grown soybeans without genetic modification (non-GMO) are contained in EstroSoy Plus.

Usage

EstroSoy Plus relieves hot flashes and night sweats, supports breast health, and promotes healthy bones by helping the body retain calcium. Soy, which contains natural phytoestrogens called isoflavones, has been clinically proven to ease hormonal transition. Women with a soy-rich diet report lower incidence of hot flashes and other menopause symptoms. Recent studies also show that women with a soy-rich diet have healthier bones and increased breast health. The diets referred to in these studies involve fermented soy (as in foods like natto, miso and tempeh). EstroSoy Plus from Nature's Way is a unique dietary supplement containing fermented soy consistent with the scientific research.*
