White Willow Bark Extract 580 mg

The Natural Solution for Pain Relief

Drug-Free Pain Relief. Now there's no reason to take ASPIRIN® or drugs to stay pain-free. For relief from all types of body pain including headaches, rheumatism and fever, White Willow Bark Extract is the natural alternative to chemical analgesics.

A Traditional Pain Remedy

Long before Columbus set foot in the new world, Native American shamans and medicine men were harvesting plants for their therapeutic benefits. On the basis of knowledge passed from generation to generation, these tribal healers formulated botanical remedies effective in correcting all manner of ailments.

Particularly prized by them for its pain-relieving and anti-inflammatory capabilities was the bark of the Salix alba, or white willow tree. Commonly found along the banks of rivers and streams, this tree bears silvery white foliage and takes its name from the ancient east Indian words salila (water) and sarit (river).

How Does White Willow Bark Extract Work?

Willow bark works to reduce pain by blocking the production of inflammatory prostaglandins, which are hormone-like substances involved in inflammation and muscle contraction. Further action in reducing pain occurs through willow bark's ability to inhibit the action of neutrophils, a type of white blood cell. As well, willow bark is an antipyretic, a very effective fever reducer, for conditions such as the common cold and influenza. Furthermore, it acts as an analgesic, relieving mild neuralgic pain, toothaches and headaches.

How Safe Is White Willow Bark Extract?

The British Herbal Pharmacopoeia records no known side effects to white willow bark. However, Aspirin® and other synthetically created ASA products can cause side effects that willow bark doesn't. For those who prefer not to use drugs or chemical analgesics White Willow Bark Extract is the ideal alternative, and contains a standardized amount of White Willow Bark in every capsule.

The choice for pain relief is clear. For arthritic conditions, gout fever and all kinds of body pain, willow bark is the proven, natural solution.
