L-Carnosine 500 mg - 50 Vcaps®

This powerful dipeptide amino acid is a combination of histidine and ß-alanine, and found in high concentrations of skeletal tissues. With its strong antioxidant and free radical fighting properties, NOW L-Carnosine is a sound way to protect the body's most vital building blocks from many forms of cellular damage. And as one of the most effective anti-carbonylation agents in use today, L-Carnosine may have a positive impact on our ability to slow the effects of age-related degeneration by hindering production of abnormal proteins.*
